

American Vascular Unveils New Chapter:

Welcoming Dr. Andrew Mullins to Cardiac Thoracic & Endovascular Therapies

We are excited to share a momentous development at Cardiac Thoracic & Endovascular Therapies. Our esteemed Interventional Radiologist, Dr. Andrew Mullins, is joining forces with the visionary founder, Dr. James B. Williams, to further elevate the standard of vascular care in the Central Illinois region.

A Fusion of Dedication and Expertise

Dr. Andrew Mullins' journey is evidence of his dedication and service. A recipient of a Navy Health Professions Scholarship, Dr. Mullins completed his medical degree at Kirksville College of Osteopathic Medicine. His diverse experience includes a surgical internship at the National Naval Medical Center and two years as a General Medical Officer with Special Boat Team-22. After 17 years of distinguished military service, Dr. Mullins transitioned to private practice, joining a thriving Cardiovascular Interventional Radiology practice at a community hospital. Now, Dr. Mullins is bringing his passion and expertise to Cardiac Thoracic & Endovascular Therapies in Peoria. Together with Dr. James B. Williams, they share a commitment to aggressively treating peripheral arterial disease, preventing life-altering consequences like amputation, and improving access to high-quality care for the community.

Dr. James B. Williams: Pioneering Excellence

Founded in 2000, Cardiac Thoracic & Endovascular Therapies stands as a testament to Dr. James B. Williams' pioneering spirit. His unwavering dedication to the Central Illinois community is reflected in the center's focus on cutting-edge techniques in a unique outpatient setting. Dr. Williams' expertise in endovascular therapies has not only helped patients avoid more invasive procedures but has also resulted in faster recoveries and an improved quality of life.

Welcoming Dr. Mullins to the team marks a new chapter in the center's journey. Dr. Williams envisions expanded reach and collaboration, enhancing accessibility and quality of cardiovascular and endovascular treatments for all patients in need. Since their Open House, they have proudly expanded their reach with satellite locations in Peru and Galesburg, IL. We invite you to join us in welcoming Dr. Mullins and celebrating the growth and continued excellence of Cardiac Thoracic & Endovascular Therapies. This collaboration represents American Vascular's commitment to providing the highest level of care to local communities.

Thank you for being a valued part of the community. We look forward to the continued journey of advancing vascular care and making a positive impact on the lives of all patients.
